GRAMMAR and DICTIONARY

PALAU-ENGLISH and ENGLISH-PALAU

FOREWORD.

To the gentle (I hope) Reader,

I have no illusions that I have compiled a dictionary without any mistakes. While begging your indulgence for the multitude of errors may I ask you to take the trouble to inform me of the mistakes and omissions you find, so I can correct them in what will be, I hope, the second, printed edition.

SOME NOTES ON PALAUAN GRAMMAR.

Alphabet.

a as in father. Can be doubled as in Ngaraard ae almost as in eye, but two syllables. melaes - to gossip ai a dipthong, as in eye. melais - to delouse ao almost as in cow, but two syllables. mesaod - to separate au a dipthong, as in cow. mesaul - tired b somewhere between English p & b, but closer to b ch some older people pronounce this as a harsh guttural somewhat like the German ch or the Spanish j, but most Palauans pronounce it as a slight catch in the breath. Words that begin with cho usually drop the ch when they follow pronouns or l; these words are spelled with an initial o in this dictionary. Exception: suffixed verbs always keep the ch, and are spelled with ch in this dictionary.
d as in English, but final d is pronounced dth, as in width.
e 1- as in bet. cheldecheduch - speech 2- as the German a with umlaut. cheldecheduch
3- almost as u, especially in words that begin with bek...
4- like the Hebrew shwa or the second syllable of table. kldibel group; cheleatel - wire; mengudel - to collect; treter - sickness merreder - ruler; but note mengitakl - to sing.
N.B. Many Palauans do not use a phoneme for this half-vowel. ee as in weighed. cf. menged - to lay upon & mengeed - to baste ei as in bay. Most words that end in e take a final i at the end of asentence or phrase - sel (se el) klalo - that thing; sei - that.
h as in hat. I know of only one Palauan word (hai - exclamation of surprise) with this sound, but many foreign words have it.
i as in it. melim - to drink ii as in eat. meliim - to sprinkle k somewhat softer than the English k. It seems that once there was g in Palauan, but the difference between k & g has died out. All such words are spelled with k in this dictionary. Cf. ged - field & ked - we; ka - you & ga - nor; ngigel - fish & ngikel chad) l as in English. It may be doubled.
m as in English
ng somewhat as in singer. Most foreign words in n change to ng in Palauan - monkey becomes mongkii. Before d & k & s, ng is pronounced as n, but usually written ng: osongd - comb; mechellings - transparent; blengkangk - lying down.
Words that end in a single vowel usually add ng at the end of a sentence or clause:- ak mengang - I eat..ak menga bras - I eat rice; ak dmung - I say..ak dmur ngii - I say to him (ak dmu er ngii) o as in note. It may be doubled as klekool - game. But sometimes double o is pronounced as two syllables: melo-och - to pre-chew food oe almost as in oil, but two syllables. diblechoel - often oi a dipthong, as in oil. blsoil - supper r stronger than in English. The English r sounds like w to Palauans.
s as in English. (sh does not occur, except in foreign words) t as in English
u as in rule. It may be doubled: buch - spouse; buuch - betelnut w Many prefer to write this as u, but that can cause confusion between words such as wum - cookhouse & uum - your craziness y Many prefer to write this as i, but there is a definite glide of the tongue in words like jungs - island; yanged - sky; yolt - wind.

Particles.

a precedes almost every word - a smecher a ngilmii a kerul The sick man took his medecine. The only Palauan words that begin with a are exclamations as akai - ouch; alii - hey; adang - that's right.
Exceptions: a never precedes cho or o;- never precedes pronouns or prepositions:- beskak a kelek - give me my food. beskak oles - give me a knife blil a Risong - Risong's house. blil Otu - Otu's house ak umes er a buik- I see the boy. ak umes er ngii - I see him.
ngara medad - in the future. ngarbab - above.
2- a becomes a in the vocative; ar in the plural for people.
a Besebes a mermang - Besebes is coming. a Besebes, mei - come here Besebes. a buik - the boy. ar buik - the boys. When ar refers to a group it is pronounced (and should be written?) are:- arechad ra beluu - the people of the village.

Particles. a continued.

3- a is used as the copula in place of the present of the verb to be. a chad a kedung - the man is good. Cf. a kedung el chad - the good man.

4- a, with the meaning of if, precedes the 1st & 3rd person pronouns in the subjunctive mood:- if I go - alsekum ak merael & a kurael if he (she, it, they) go - alsekum ngmerael & a lorael N.B. The combination ei a drops both i and a:- give me a cigarette - mei a tara dekool becomes m e tara dekool my heart is at peace - kiei a renguk becomes kie renguk le he, she, it, they in negative & conditional & temporal sentences, is usually written joined to the verb or following word:- he does not see - ngdiak lesang if it is still far away - a dirke lecheroid Exceptions: before vowels and s, le is written l:- they are not three things - ngdiak ledei al sebechek - if I can after k but before b, t or d, le becomes el:- ngdiak el tuu - he does not enter; it is not a banana.

el 1)- relative pronoun (who, which, what) is written after all conconants, even after l, but the e is elided after vowels:- a ekebil el mermang a ngelekek - the girl who is coming is my child. tedel ngarsei ar rubak - the three who are there are chiefs.
2)- when it connects adjectives & nouns, and in the phrase 'el kmo':- a)- after l, neither written nor pronounced the good man - ungil chad (not ungil el chad) BUT it can be written and spoken for emphasis:- ngarngii ar ngelekel sechal - he has sons ngarngii ar ngelekel el sechal - his children are males. b)- after a vowel the e is elided and l is joined to the preceding:- the big man - a kloul sechal. he said that - ngdilul kmo c)- before r, el is pronounced er:- mekngit el reng - pronounced as if mekngiterreng klengiterreng (sorrow) can be considered as one word.

er a general preposition (of, in, to, by, for, at) and it is frequently used before the object of a non-suffixed verb:- a)- when followed by a, er becomes ra: ak umes er oles - I see the pencil ak umes ra chad - I see the man b)- when er follows a vowel or r, and does not precede a, it becomes re:- ak ultoir re ngii - I love him ak tobeda re ngii - I am going out of it

NOUNS. Almost all nouns have the same form in the singular and plural.
Exception: chelèched - i husked coconut; chelechidel - many The plural can be denoted by:- adjectives which usually prefix me for the plural:- a kloul blai - the big house. a mekloul blai - the big houses demonstrative pronouns - tia - this; aika - these, etc. the suffixed form of the verb: mesang - see him; mesterir - see them ar (instead of a) for persons. a buik - the boy; ar buik - boys

Pronouns. Personal. The 1st person plural has two forms:- kid - we inclusive, i.e. includes the one spoken to, kemam - we exclusive, i.e. excludes the one spoken to This distinction is also found in the possessive of nouns: demad - our father, i.e. a man speaking to his brother demmam - our father, as in the prayer, s peaking to God.

Independent personal pronouns.
These can be used by themselves, or as the object of a verb (in which case they are usually preceded by er: ngomes er ngak - he sees me); or as subjects)in which case they are followed by a unless the verb begins with o: I know - ak medengeliior ngak a medengelii: the use of these independent pronouns emphasizes the subject)

ngak	- I	kid	- we (inclusive)
kau	- you (sing)	kemam	- we (exclusive) ngii	- he	kemiu	- you (plural)
"	- she	tir	- they (persons)
"	- it	ngii	- they (things)

Subjective personal pronouns. These are used only as subjects of a verb in the indicative mood or interrogative.

Subjective personal pronouns (continued) Indicative mood.

I	ak	we (inclusive)	ked, kede
you	ke, ka, k-	we (exclusive	aki, akim (~~akimo~~) he	ng	you (plural)	ko, kom
she	ng	they (persons)	te, ter
it	ng	they (things)	ng

kede, aki, ko are used before consonants. ~~after~~ aki, verbs in me... change to mo... after ak, verbs in o.. change to u.. kede oureor - we work. ak uureor - I work

Subjunctive mood. (negative, conditional, temporal)

I	ku, k-	we (inclisive)	de, do, d-
you	o, om	we (exclusive	aki, akimo he	le, lo, l-	you (p;ural*	o, om she	le, lo, l-	they	le, lo, lit	le, lo, ll, d, akim, om are used before vowels. If the verb begins with me, the me drops out except after akim, when me changes to mo. All these pronouns are usually written joined to the verb.

ak merael - I walk a lorael - if he walk aki medengelii - we know aki modengelii - if we know N.B. I do not see it - ngdiak kisang & ngdiak kusang Objective personal pronouns.

a)-The independent pronouns, preceded by er, may be used b)-suffixes attached to the verb:-

me	-ak, -kak	us (incl.)	-id, -kid you	-au, -kau	us (exclu)	-emam, -kemam him	*	you (pl.)	-emiu, -kemiu
her	*	them (persons)	-iterir, -terir
it	*	them (things	**

* the 3rd singular of most verbs takes the suffix ii, but ng, ur, ir also occur. The correct form must be learned for each verb.
 3rd plural for things takes as suffix the same ending as the infinitive (unsuffixed form of the verb) ke mesterir - you see them (people) ke mes - you see them (things). from the verb omes

Pronouns. Demonstrative.

	this	that (near one spoken to)	that (far from both) persons	ngika	ngilecha	ngike
things	tia	tilecha	se
	these	those	those
persons	tirika	tirilecha	tirike
things	aika	ailecha	aike
"	aile

All these forma add l if they are connected with the following word unless the word begins with ng.
ngikal chad - this man sel blai - that house tial ngakl - this name
At the end of a sentence or clause, forms in a add ng; forms in e add i. Give me that - beskak sei. give me those - beskak ailechang For emphasis all these forms can prefix i; forms ending in e can take the suffix ikid for emphasis.
sei isei iseikid (in increasing emphasis) N.B. tiang can also mean here; sei can also mean there.

Pronouns. Interrogative. (who?, which? what? whom?)
For persons - techa for things - ngera techa ngklem - What is your name? ngeral ngklel sel charm? - what is the name of that animal?
techang ke omes er ngii? - Whom are you looking at?

Pronouns. Relative. (cf. particles 'el', page 3)
All these pronouns (who, which, what, that) are el in Palauan. This pronoun is never elided, and should be distinguished from the el that connects adjective and verb:
a kedung el (connective) chad el (relative) mermang ... the good man who is coming

Pronouns. Possessive.
These may be expressed by er and the independent pronouns: blai er ngak my house, but this is not good Palauan. Except for a few foreign words, possession is usually indicated by a suffix to the noun. These suffixes are always accented.

Pronouns. Poszessive (continued)

	lius (coconut)	mad (eye)	wach (leg)	kar (medecine)
my	lisek	medak	ochik	keruk
your(sing)	lisem	medam	ochim	kerum his,her,its	lisel	medal	ochil	kerul our(incl)	lised	medad	ochid	kerud
our (excl)	lisam	medemam	ochemam	kermam
your (pl)	lisiu	medemiu	ochemiu	kermiu their)people)	lisir	mederir	ocherir	kerrir their (things) is the same as the 3rd singular.

The ek suffix is most common, but the correct form must be learned for each noun. Some nouns, with two meanings, have a different suffix for each meaning.

chur, chural - tongue chur, cheril - laughter sau, soal - liking sau, songel - concubine bilel can mean clothing (bail); month (buil); cup (biul)

Some exceptions: derrir - their mother. hands - chimomiu, chimorir

N.B. In the dictionary, the 3rd sing. is written after the noun.

Adjectives. (cf. particles el, on page 3)

1- Modifiers - precede the noun and are followed by el:- the good man - a kedung el chad & a ungil chad

2- Predicates - follow the subject and are preceded by a:- the wall is white - a kboub a becheleleu N.B. There is no word for the copula in the present tense.

3- Plurals are usually formed by prefixing me:- big man - a kloul sechal. big men - ar mekloul sechal

4- Comparatives are formed with bai, kuk, ngelekla, etc.
I am smaller than you - ngak a kuk kekedeb er kau; ngak a bai...

5- Superlatives are formed by kot, tbebul, tebengel, delal a ... taro is our best food - a kukau a kot el ungil keled the greatest number - a tebengel a kloul ildisir N.B. Abstract nouns can be formed by inserting l, or prefixing kle- to the adjective. The possessive form of such nouns can be used as the superlative:- kididai - high kldidai - heigth kldidiul - its height a kldidiul a rois - thehighest mountain kedung - virtuous kldung - virtue Kristiano - Christian klekristiano - Christianity

6- Reduplicated adjectives are more intensive:- kedeb - short kekedeb - very short But note: mekeald - hot mekeald - warm N.B. verbs can also be reduplicated:- meluk - to cut off a piece. melektuk - to slice into many pieces

Numerals.

1- Cardinal. Different classes of things take different numerals, but 11 and above are the same for all classes. Numerals that end in a vowel take l before the noun, and ng when they end a sentence.

	general	persons	round objects	long objects	thin & flat	counting
1-	ta	ta	chimo	teluo	techedo	tang
2-	eru	teru	teblo	eruo	erechedo	orung
3-	ede(i)	tede(i)	klde(i)	eduo	edechedo	ode(i)
4-	eoa	teoa	kleoa	eoaiwo	eoachedo	oang
5-	eim	teim	kleim	eimwo	eimechedo	oim
6-	elolem	telolem	kllolem	cf. general	cf. general	malong
7-	ewid	tewid	klewid			uid
8-	eai	teai	kleai			iai
9-	etiu	tetiu	kltiu			itiu
10-	truich	truich	tacher			machod

11- truich ma tang (chimong, teluong, etc.)

20-	lluich	40- okeoa	60- okolem	80- okai	100- dart
30-	okedei	50- okim	70- okewid	90- oketiu	1000- telael

10,000 - mang (Jap)

N.B. 1 canoe that has been made by joining hull to outrigger - sesakt, etc 1 thing that has been divided - sesaod, eresaod (2 separated parts)

Note: tal chad - one person. tara (ta er a) chad - someone

2- Ordinals.

1st - kot	4th- ongeoa	7th- ongewid	10th- ongetruich
2nd - ongeru	5th- ongeim	8th- ongeai	20th- ongelluich
3rd - ongedei	6th- ongelolem	9th- ongetiu

N.B. Days of the month:- kot, erung & the other cardinals.

Adverbs Generally speaking there is no difference between adjectives and adverbs, except for a few adverbs:-

very - kmal, sal, silal too - imis, ulis

Prepositions. Many verbs take on the functions of prepositions: e.g.

melloboch - to hew the inside of a log to make a canoe melasech - " " " outside " " " " " " " meloes - " " " top " " " " " " " melkaik - " " a log to form the prowof a canoe.

However there are prepositions in Palauan:-

in, inside	chelsel
outside	ikrel. (ikrel a chimak - back of my hand)
on, upon, up	bebul
at & on & near	kmeda; ngara (ngara is a verb - is at)
with (accompany)	obengkel
with (instrument)	el oba
to	el mora. le kora
for	kirel, el bedul, el mora, le kora er has many meanings:- of, by, for, in, etc.

When er is followed by a it is usually written ra.
When er is not followed by a vowel, but is preceded by r or a vowel, it is usually written re.

Verbs.

I Preliminary notions.

a)- Some nouns in their possessive form are used as verbs:-

sebechek, sebechem, etc. - my ability, my fittingness (from the verb mesebech) hence 'I can', 'I am able' soak, soam, etc. - my love, my mistress (from sau - concubine) hence 'I like', 'I wish', 'I want'.
chetik, chetim, etc. - my abandoning (from mengoit - abandon), hence 'I dislike', 'I hate'. sokok, sokom, sokol, sokod - I like what I disliked chetikok, chetikom, chetikol, chetikod - I dislike what I liked.
These words, ~~as other nouns~~, are followed by el, not by er as is commong with verbs: soak el melekoi - I want to speak

b)- some verbal particles (adverbs?) express the manner of action:-

me (mle in the past) denotes causality or action here:- ak mle melekoi - I spoke, I came here to speak mo (mlo in the past) denotes action in some other place:- ak mlo melekoi - I spoke, I went there to speak.
N.B. mo also means will, i.e. sign of the future.
ma (mla in the past) - is somewhat indefinite:- ak mla melekoi - I spoke.
N.B. Not all verbs can use these three particles, e.g. obes always uses mla - I mla obes - I forgot. mo chu & mo cha & the suffixes -kung & -ung mean the action is to take place immediately:- ak mo chu melekoi - I will speak now ak morolung (ak merael kung) - I am going right now.
iko (iliko in the past) means action towards the one spoken to:
ak ikong - I am going to you

c)- reciprocal prefixes. kau-, kai-, ka-, cha-.

olengeseu - to help	kaingeseu - to help one another tekoi - word	katekoi - to converse ousbech - to use	kausisbech - to share with another mengedechedich- to speak	kachedecheduch - to converse chachedecheduch - to converse

II Types of verbs.

a)- simple. These are usually short, and always intransitive:- me & mei - to come. mo - to go (mo alsp means will) b)- infixed. a letter (vowel or consonant) is dropped from the middle of the verb in all tenses except the present indicative:- tmuu - to enter ak tiluu - I entered chamat - to praise ngdiak bo kchat - I will not praise tuobed - to go out bo mtobed - go out! soiseb - to enter siseball - entrance N.B. Two verbs are infixed in every tense except the present:- milil - to play, to have fun ddilil - let us play mius - to row ngdiak o moius - you do not row.

c)- compound. These have a prefix:- 1- causative prefixes: omek-, ol-, omdechor - to stand	omekdechor - to build tmuu - to enter	oltuu - to insert char - price	omechar - - to buy

2- ou- to use, to need (derived from ousbech?)

bail - clothing oubail - to wear clothing

3- me- & meng- are very common prefixes:-

rael - road merael - to walk idokl - dirty mengidokl - to make something dirty

N.B. The same root make take different prefixes:- klatk - memorial melatk - to remember omeklatk - to remind dakt - fear'. medakt - to fear omekdakt - to frighten

III Suffixed and non-suffixed parts of the verb.

The suffixed forms are always used transitively; in the dictionary these forms are denoted by 'trans'.

Eccept for the simple, intransitive verbs all Palauan verbs can take the pronoun object (cf. page 4) as a suffix. The non-suffixed forms can also be used transitively, but then they usually require er before the object. The difference in meaning between these two forms is slight, although the non-suffixed transitive form seems to emphasize the object.

thus there are two ways of saying 'I do it':-

ak meruul er ngii - this is what I am doing ak rulii - I am actually doing it

N.B. ak meruul ra kall - I am preparing one kind of food.

ak meruul a kall - I am preparing several kinds of food

There is a general pattern for deriving the suffixed from from the non-suffixed or infinitive form, but the correct from must be learned in each:-

infinitive	suffixed form melabek	tobekii - to patch; ngobekii - to iron meluches	luchesii - to write; suchesii - to prop open melik	tikir - to box; dikir - to prop up from the side; & & likir - to put something in the bottom of a box

IV MOODS. Indicative, Imperative and what might be called the subjunctive which includes negative, conditional & temporal clauses

A. Indicative. Use pronouns ak, ke, etc. or ngak a, kau a, etc.

present. I do - ak meruul, ngak a meruul

I do it - ak rullii, ngak a rulii, ak meruul er ngii

N.B. When the verb begins with o there is no a after the pronoun:- ngak omes - I see

After ak, the initial o of a verb changes to u:-

ak umes - I see but ked omes - we see

But the suffixed froms of verbs that begin with cho, always retain the cho, and do not change to u:-

ak choblii - I carry in under my arm future. is formed by inserting mo between the subject and the verb:-

ak buik a mo medengelii - the boy will know it.

past. may be formed by mle, mla, mlo (cf. verbal particles. page 6) but more frequently it is formed by inserting l (le, li, el,il)

drink - melim	drank	- millim, mellim
come - mei	came	- mlei
forgive-melubet	forgave	- millubet
know - medengei	knew	- mildengei, mledengei

BUT (1)- if there is an r in the present, it is doubled:-

walk - merael	walked	- mirrael
do - meruul	done	- mirruul

(2)- words beginning with o change to ule-

see - omes	saw	- ulemes
eat - omengur	ate	- ulemengur

(3) unclassified:-

do - rullii	did	- rirellii
lose- remiid	lost-	ririid
run - remurt	ran	- rirurt

B. Subjunctive. Drop the infixed letter; use the pronouns ku-, etc.

Negatives. ngdiak (present); ngdimlak (past); ngdiak bo (future).

ngdimlak kumes - I did not see ngdiak le bo lomes - he will not see ngdiak kbong - I do not go

N.B. ngdiak kisang - I do not see

Conditional sentences:-

a)- alsekum (if) can be used with the indicative:- alsekum ngii omes - if he see b)- use the subjunctive pronouns and verb forms with a preceding the 1st & 3rd persons; o preceding the 2nd.

a lesang - if he see it a domes - if we see

o morael - if you go a kumes - if I see. Cf. ak umes - I see for negative conditions, use alak:-

alak bo kbong - if I do not go temporal.

1- oingarang? (when?) takes the indicative.
2- but temporal clauses can be introduced by metial (contemprary), sel (future) or sera (past). All these words take the subjunctive mood and pronouns:- metial o molekoi e ak urrenges - while you talk, I listen sel kmei, morngii a chais - when I come there will be news sera lemei e ak milsang - when he came I saw him

C. Imperative. always drops the infixed letter.
1- prefix m to the verb: chamat - to praise .. mchat but see rullii - mrellii.
2- verbs beginning with me change it to mo; meruul - moruul 3- verbs beginning with mi (only suffixed) change to bi:- miteklii - to turn it over biteklii - turn it over mingii - to divide it bingii - divide it 4- mo changes to bo or bong; me (mei) to be:-
These words, be & bo frequently precede the imperative of other verbs:
be mtuu - come in bo mtobed - go out 5- when the non-suffixed verb begines with om the suffixed form usually drops the o: to use scissors* omchadu & mcheduii.
The imperatives:- momchadu & mcheduii 6- There is an imperative for the 1st & 3rd persons:- dorael - let us go. le bong - let him go 7- negative imperative - lak or diak with subjunctive pronouns:- lak o bong & diak o bong(the latter also means 'you do not go')

V Other parts of the verb.
1- Passive. This is formed by changing the first syllable of the non-suffixed (infinitive) form of the verb; there does not seem to be any rule for the formation of the passive. melabek - metabek (patch) & mengabek (iron) meleseb (burn) - meseseb. melakl (bury) - medakl merader (to see off) - mengader. merirk (inspect) - medirk orreked (hold) - mprreked puchais (inform) - mouchais oureor (work) - moureor ouetkeu (greet) - mouetkeu 2- Gerundive & Past Participle.

a)- the gerundive means what-is-to-be-done, what-should-be-done. It always ends in l and frequently in ll.
b)- the past participle is frequently formedby inserting l into the gerundive thus changing the meaning from what-is-to-be-done to what-has-benn-done, i.e. the past of the gerundive. But many times the past participle has the same ending as the infinitive or non-suffixed form.

Infinitive	gerundive	past participle.

olengeseu - to help	ngesuill, ngesoal	ulengeseu omades - to pave	bedukl, bedesall	bldukl & blades
omail - to clothe	biull	bliull & blail

N.B. Some verbs have additional past participles; if one is reduplucated it means repeated or continual action:
melat - to tear telat - torn teletat - torn intopiocces N.B. There does not seem to be any rule for telling when the passive, when the past participle is used.
3- present partici ple. formed by prefixing o to the infinitive:
merael - to go omerael - the going, the trip, the journey 5- verbal nouns. formed by prefixing o to the stem of the verb. These verbal nouns denote the instrument used:- meles - to cut oles - knife melemed - to wash olemed - sponge or cloth for washing; also means lung (washes the breath)/

C. women's. toluk - plate or tray of tortoise shell tuu - red oyster shell (very valuable chesiuch - polished oyster shell mengesiuch - to give women's money chelsiuch - the money given
D. men's. Used ceremonially for births; marriages; deaths, peace-offerings; ocheraol of a house, etc. It is made of extremely hard glass and is drilled for suspension holes. It is worn as necklaces by the women. Some of the money is translucent, but the more valuable peieces are opaque. Some traces of iron and copper are found. To the eye, it is hard to tell whether the money is glass; stone or porcelain; particularly some of the beads with streaks (lines; hooks; circles; squares) in them resemble baked porcelain.

Types. bachel - crescentic prisms, most likely parts of bracelets from Mindinao in the Philippine Is., where bracelets of the same material are still used. Smaller pieces of bachel are called kldait. brak-orange; mungungau - red chesbad - rounded and beveled; some are octagonal. Same material as bachel and kldait.

beads. Identical beads have been found in Egypt. Kinds of beads:
1-chelbuchub - varicolored with circles or squares as designs.
2-kluk. red or white; lines or hooks as designs
3-merimech (yellow) & chermall (blue and green). Chermall is no longer used as it can be simulated by glass marbles deloboch. sections made by cutting kluk in half. If a kluk is cut into thirds, the middle section is called klsuk.

Value. The most valuable are priced at upwards of $1.000.00. Less valuable pieces have been sold for $400.00. Value in descending order: bachel brak, bachel mungungau, bachel merimech, chesbad; chelbuchub; kluk; deloboch. But there are variations within this scale, i.e. chesbad can be more valuable than the smaller bachel, as can chelbuchub. Some klul are more valuable than the small chelbuchub.

Sub-types. There are more than 2,000 pieces of Palauan money, and each one has its name. Names of some sub-types: yodusech (orange), mungau (red), iksid (round), idenges (like a bud), ikesoul, kerdeu,bukelchiwaiu, outaoch (bisected), mengsang, cherecheroi (white), cheliull, chelebud, marungur, uchul a sers, merdaol, tengeteremudech, bleached, chelemechang, klouruikel, sechalklikes, babilklikes, rdechel a kerrekar, bersoech.

When borrowing money a valuable piece (ulsirs) is given as pawn; a less valuable piece (ongiakl) is given as interest. Money is borrowed because sometimes a man has occasion to pay a kluk, but all he has is kldait, so he pawns the kldait to get a kluk
